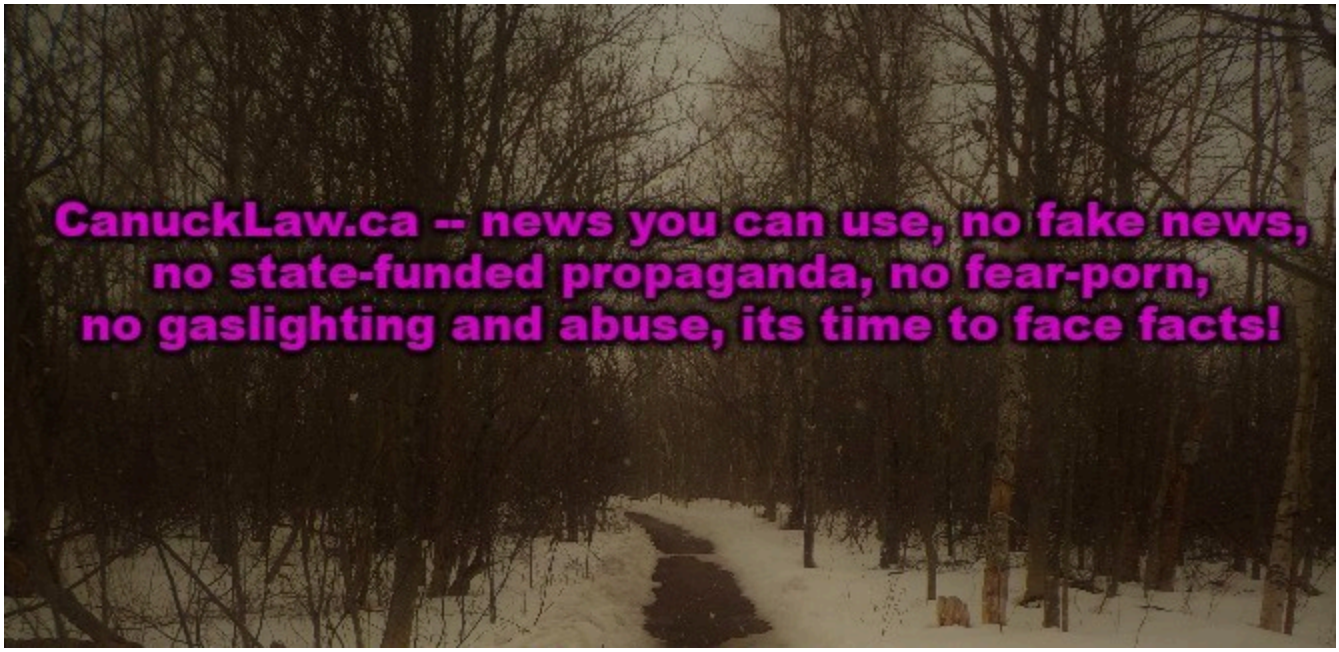
A serious question:
How much do you really know about the college you went to? Or about the university you sent your child to?
If you though that it was a scam before, consider the fact that these institutions are structured as charities.



CanuckLaw.ca -- news you can use, no fake news,
no state-funded propaganda, no fear-porn,
no gaslighting and abuse, its time to face facts!

Colleges and universities sell themselves as institutes of higher learning. In reality, they are corporations structured as charities. They are able to issue tax credits to donors and students.

Why do these schools push for masks and vaccine passports? Consider that the Gates Foundation, the Rockefeller Foundation, and many drug companies donate as well. They give large amounts, and they do it regularly. Is it so difficult to believe that there might be some quid pro quo?

Schools are also instrumental in facilitating at least 1 stream of backdoor mass migration. This is done with the widespread issuance of student visas.

By the way, student loans are generally not dischargeable in bankruptcy. Guess not everyone can benefit from enriching the mind.

All of this would be common knowledge if the media wasn't paid to deceive and mislead.
